

Carnival is 3 days of fun

Now that people have shrugged off the cold from watching the exciting Minden Sled Dog Derby, it's time to retrieve those mittens, toques and long underwear from storage as another popular winter event comes to town.

The Minden Winter Carnival, now going into its 28th year, is one of the longest running winter carnivals in the province. And with years of experience behind them, the Minden Kinsmen and Kinettes certainly know how to shake us out of the mid winter blues.

Ice skating, ice car racing, arm wrestling, hockey and curling are just a sample of the activities that will be going on around Minden during the three-day carnival that starts this Friday night. The Kinsmen have arranged for an action-packed weekend that kicks off with the crowning of the Carnival Queen at 8 p.m. at the arena.

Always a popular attraction, the winter carnival parade is scheduled to start at noon on Saturday from the former Dollo's parking lot. The parade will wind its way along Main Street and end up at the arena, where most of the events are being staged.

Baseball fans who simply can not wait for spring thaw will be out for some pre-preseason play in an eight-team Sno-Pitch Tournament that will be going on all day. Curlers will be burning up the ice at the Minden Curling Club as the annual mixed Carnival Bonspiel starts on Friday at 6 p.m.

The carnival action runs from 6 p.m. on Friday until the same time on Sunday. For a complete schedule of activities, refer to the special Winter Carnival schedule in this week's Times.

The licence plate seems to say it all: '4 GETFL'. There is supposed to be a drain beneath this puddle on the newly-constructed section of Bobcaygeon Road. An engineer involved in the design of the project was examining the results of his work last week and could not remember if the drain had been installed or if they '4GOT' to put it in.

Construction boom continues in Anson, Hindon and Minden

The value of new construction in Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships has seen a dramatic increase for the second year in a row, year-end statistics from the Chief Building Official's office demonstrate.

The value of new construction in 1987 totalled almost $5.6-million, an increase of 112 per cent over the 1985 figure. The increase over the 1986 value amounted to 22.9 per cent, or almost $1.7-million.

In all there were 209 building permits issued in the year from the township office, with fees collected on permits amounting to $24,774.

A breakdown on the year's building activities shows 11 permits for commercial construction were obtained, 38 residential, 26 cottage, 42 garage and storage, 17 renovation, 62 additions, and 13 pools, demolitions or boat houses.

The value of new construction in 1987 was $5,594,703, compared with $4,309,458 in 1986, and $2,630,669 in 1985.

Council denies marksmens' bid for clubhouse

Despite an agreement signed with the previous Lutterworth Township Council, the Haliburton County Marksman Club will not be allowed to build a club house at the shooting range in the old sand pit.

Because that agreement clearly conflicts with the zoning of that property, the agreement is not valid, council felt at its meeting last Thursday night.

Although there are no objections to the club continuing to use the area for target practice, council does not favour an expansion of the present use. A new agreement will have to be reached and the property, which is owned by the municipality, will have to be rezoned for the club's activities to continue.

Two-tier B.I.A. could bring growth

Deliberations over the establishment of a Business Improvement Area in Haliburton Village have revealed information that might encourage an expansion of Minden's BIA.

The concept of a two-tier levy, initially unearthed at an informational meeting for the proposed Haliburton Village BIA, could bring Minden's Highway 35 businesses in fold with those in the downtown core.

At the January 14 Anson, Hindon and Minden Council meeting, BIA member Jack Brezina said one of the shortcomings of the BIA is that it has caused a division between the downtown businesses and those on the highway. He said the establishment of a two-tier levy might encourage the businesses on the highway to join the BIA, thereby eliminating the rift. The municipality has been asked to investigate this option.

When Minden's BIA was established, the two-tier system of collecting the BIA levy was not in place. And because the bulk of any capital work would be carried out in the downtown core, businesses on the highway were reluctant to join.

The two-tier system, as described to Haliburton Village business owners, would allow the two business areas to be taxed at a different rate. Under this system, the businesses on the highway could join the BIA and participate in the various promotions without having to contribute to capital work in the downtown.

Spring came early and didn't stay around long last week when a slippery coat of freezing rain covered area roads and sidewalks. Minden Roads workers were out in the afternoon spreading sand along the walkways on Bobcaygeon Road to give some traction on the icy surface. The freezing rain also caused the cancellation of school buses across the county on Wednesday.

Grant will assist area unemployed to upgrade through SSFC course

Out-of-work residents of the Highlands will have an opportunity to upgrade their job skills through a program being offered by Sir Sandford Fleming College.

With the help of a $213,000 grant from the Canada Employment and Immigration, the SSFC Haliburton Campus will be offering a 30 week Job Training Program aimed at those who wish to gain the skills needed to find work.

The program is designed to make those who have been unemployed for a long time more employable through a combination of work experience and skills training. The training will include office practice, computer operation, academic upgrading, life skills, on-the-job training and retail sales.

Trainees will receive $4.85 per hour while taking part in the program which begins on February 1.

Village revels in Heritage

Ontario's Heritage Week will wind up with a host of events in Haliburton Village as many local groups are planning events to celebrate the community's rich heritage on February 20.

The Haliburton Museum, Heritage Walks, the library and the Rails' End Gallery have planned an afternoon of storytelling, demonstrations of traditional crafts, historic walks, folk art displays, and films. The celebration starts at 1 p.m. in the lower level of Stedmans Mall and finishes at the Rails' End Gallery.

The schedule of events planned for the day is as follows;

1 p.m. to 2 p.m.
A showing of films with a Haliburton connection. The films are from the collection of the Haliburton County Public Library and were either produced in Haliburton, about Haliburton, or created by people of Haliburton. Such productions include "High Summer," "Heavy Horse Pull," "Call From The Wild" and more.

At the same time, heritage posters created by local children will be on display.

2:30 p.m. - 3:15 p.m.

A guided Heritage Walk will leave Stedmans Mall at this time. At Bank's General, an 1881 store, costumed staff will welcome the walkers with free hot mulled cider. Master story teller Doug Hodgson will weave tales of a bygone era.

3:30 p.m. - 4:15 p.m.

Housed in a historic railway station, the Rails' End Gallery welcomes visitors with demonstrations of traditional crafts by costumed artists. Visitors are invited to try these crafts. Displays of folk art and old-fashioned toys will be featured and champion log cutter Earle (Buck) Cowen will demonstrate log cutting with a cross-cut saw.

Flushing away free trade

The concept of a free trade deal with the United States is hardly a new idea. This topic has been kicking around for decades. And so, it seems, have the arguments in favour of a deal.

A few weeks ago our Member of Parliament, Bill Scott, addressed the Haliburton County Farmers' Association with a pitch for free trade. He warned us that a growing protectionist sentiment in the U.S. could severely hamper the trade we now have. He said the rush is on to make a deal before the U.S. Congress has a chance to pass the 200 protectionist bills it is now facing.

Deja Vu

Thirty years earlier, John Diefenbaker's government was saying pretty much the same thing. The Toronto Star reported last week on recently-released federal cabinet documents from 1957. The documents indicate that the Diefenbaker government was preoccupied with mounting U.S. trade protectionism. "There would be demands for increasing protectionism in the United States in the coming months," the 30-year-old documents say.

It is apparent that the current PC government is ready to pull out all the stops to sell this deal to us. Last week we received our 130-page copy of "The Canada - U.S. Free Trade Agreement Synopsis" - printed entirely in blue ink. And what happened to the original promotional brochures that were issued when the tentative deal was reached?

A fitting end

Well, it seems that nobody wanted them. They are being shredded and pulverized, all the blue ink is being bleached out, and the rest will be converted into toilet paper.

Now, that's government money being put to good use.

Nature's fireworks

Canadian security strengthened by Bill Scott, M.P.

Canada's security and economy received a boost mid-December when Cabinet gave approval for the construction of the second batch of six patrol frigates to be built by Saint John Shipbuilding Ltd. of Saint John, N.B. Paramax Electronics Ltd. of Montreal will be the main subcontractor, responsible for the frigates' high technology combat systems.

Saint John Shipbuilding (SJSB) has the expertise gained from the first six frigates. The contract amendment for the second batch is a good decision for the economy and in reaching it, the Government took into account that, in 1983, Saint John Shipbuilding Ltd. had obtained the prime contract through the competitive process. Therefore, the Government didn't have to draw up a new contract, it simply added a modification to the first one.

With this recent decision, the Government has demonstrated a firm commitment to making procurement work for the economic development of Canada as a whole. For example, the sub-contract that will go to other companies will bring industrial benefits to many regions of Canada. It is estimated that this second phase of the project, valued at approximately $2.7-billion, will generate 14,000 person years of work in Canada over a nine-year period.

Calculated over the entire life of the 12-ship project, the regional benefits breakdown is: 37 per cent to Atlantic Canada; 33 per cent to Quebec; and 30 per cent to Ontario and Western Canada.

The design, construction and integration of the weapons-control system, work valued at approximately $800-million, will be carried out, as in the case of the first six frigates, by Paramax.

The frigates were identified in the Defence White Paper last June as being an integral part of rebuilding Canada's navy so that we can meet our national and international maritime responsibilities. The decision to build a second batch of the ships is one of the first major initiatives of implementation of the White Paper. Other initiatives include new helicopters, nuclear-propelled submarines and minesweepers.

We all benefit from a strong Canada by maintaining a credible armed forces to ensure our security and sovereignty. We must provide the navy with modern, capable vessels to bolster our ability to survey and defend Canadian territory along the longest coastline in the world. We must also be a responsible partner within the North Atlantic Alliance. We will not

by Arthur Black

If you deem yourself to be a person of an exquisitely sensitive nature ... better you should turn the page right now. If you see a little old lady or anyone with a heart condition perusing this column, gently but firmly remove the newspaper from his or her grasp and suggest a stroll, or perhaps some television. This space is about to erupt with two very foul four letter words ... a double barreled expletive that is perhaps the filthiest in the entire English language. Are you ready?

Junk Mail.

There. I said it and I'm glad I said it, but having said it ... what to do about it? If you are an average North American man, woman or child, you receive 614 pieces of mail each year - 230 pieces of which you did not ask for, expect, or in fact want.

The 230 pieces were what the Post Office likes to call "complimentary, pre-approved direct-mail items"

- junk mail to you, me and the poor, hernia-courting letter carrier who has to lug them from door to door.

Near as I can figure, there are only two really tough questions in the whole junk mail problem. One is: How did they get my name?

The second is: How do I get revenge?

The answer to the first question is storks. I reckon that thanks to the Pill, storks, which used to work around the clock depositing babies under cabbage leaves, are now forced to moonlight for a living. Instead of delivering our kids they deliver our names to the large mail order houses.

As for the second problem - getting revenge - that's tougher. I've tried various gambits over the years. For a few weeks I assiduously packaged up my unwanted mail and sent it back to the companies it came from, postage due. But all that earned me was a

Monkeys face inhumane life

Editor:

Hundreds of monkeys kept for breeding by Health and Welfare Canada (H&W) to supply Ottawa testing laboratories are forced to live an inhumane life of inactivity and boredom.

If these highly intelligent creatures were confined in similar conditions in a zoo, the public would be outraged. But the public, unfortunately, does not see how the more than 1100 government monkeys exist. They are deprived of their right to activities to meet behavioural and environmental needs.

In room after windowless room pairs of adult females, and their infants, are confined in stacked, small steel-barred cages in spaces intended for one animal. Some animals are singly-housed and thus deprived of vital social interaction.

The once free adult animals were trapped in the Philippines, then brought to Canada where they will remain caged the rest of their lives - ten years or more. They will never again see the sun or breathe fresh air.

H&W adult monkeys

have little or no opportunity to exercise and are showing signs of muscle atrophy. Many are pulling out their hair, a behavioural abnormality.

The converted government building holding the monkeys was not properly designed, nor is it large enough to house all offspring. Some young were transferred to another facility where many died from stress.

Reporters who have requested tours of the facility have been told new stringent medical tests are required which take three months. So the "public", which funds the centre, has been denied access to pictures or reports.

Please express your opinions about the H&W monkeys to the Hon. Jake Epp, Minister, Health and Welfare Canada, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0K9, (no stamp required), with a copy to your local MP and the Canadian Federation of Humane Societies.

Proud of forces

allow Canada to be a protectorate of some other country.

Canada is justly proud of its sea-going traditions. With sufficient naval forces, an important part of which is the patrol frigate, we can help continue the peace we've enjoyed these last 43 years; we can be more credible with our allies, with all our citizens, and with the men and women who serve in the Canadian Forces.

bad bout of writer's cramp and some very withering glares from the folks at the Post Office.

Why not just throw it into a Glad Bag and leave it out with the trash each week? Well, that gets it off my coffee table alright, but it's not exactly revenge, is it? Besides, it's an environmental copout. Our landfill sites are already choked to overflowing with dead refrigerators, rusty bedsprings and old car tires ... they don't need my mounds and monguls of postal pollution piled on top.

I fought a losing battle with my junk mail for years, until one day my eye fell on a newspaper photograph of some guy's mailbox in Colorado.

It's kind of electric when you stumble across a kindred spirit. The owner of this mailbox clearly was one. Like you and I, he'd had his fill of junk mail. Like you and I he felt an urge to strike back, and he did.

His mailbox was a horizontal garbage can welded to a post.

Cute ... but ultimately ineffectual. It made a statement but it failed to kick the Junk Mailers where it hurts.

On the other hand, it did give me an idea. I immediately went out and bought the best-looking tin garbage can my plastic charge card could buy.

But I didn't weld it to a post. Instead I got out some black paint, an artist's paint brush and in a shaky attempt at Old Gothic Script, I painstakingly lettered a single word on the side of the can.

KINDLING

The can sits beside my tiny pot-bellied stove even as I type, and when I'm finished typing I will go down to my mailbox, bring back the day's offering and sort it over the can. Everything I actually want to read goes to one side, the rest of it gets deep-sixed right into the galvanized maw.

If the junk mailers struck me from their lists tomorrow I'd still have enough kindling to carry me well into spring.

Try it! Get yourself a little Acorn stove - or hell, just fire up the Hibachi! The knowledge that junk mail is helping to heat your home is enough in itself to make you feel warm all over.

Go ahead! Burn those phony travel brochures, those "free for a limited time only" offers, those sweepstakes entries and life insurance applications, those flyers, those leaflets, those newspapers ...

Wait a minute.

Not the newspapers. No, I was just kidding. It was a slip of the tongue. Now HOLD IT! THAT'S NOT FUNNY! Look there are some very good ads inside! STOP THAT! YOU'RE CREASING MY PHOTO! MMMMMPPPPHHHH....

Brrrraving winter's chill

Some observations on that most Canadian of seasons, Winter.

Winter has to be one of the most exciting times of the year. Harkening back several weeks, the area was pinned under one of those Arctic air mass arm locks, that seemed to catch just about everyone by surprise. The excitement comes on one of those frigid mornings when one awakens and realizes the car is not plugged in and the motor oil likely has the consistency of stiff pull taffy.

Questions swim through one's mind ... is it worth plugging in the block heater now, just 15 minutes before attempting to start the beast; indeed, should an attempt be made to get the cylinders firing at all, and risk the chance of draining what little charge the battery still holds in its chemically activated bosom; or should one let the warming rays of the far away winter sun revive the slumbering monster and do without until noon?

jack's world

by editor & publisher Jack Brezina

The excitement continues as one makes his way to the vehicle. The mechanical wizardry which Henry Ford first squeezed under the hood has gone through many metamorphoses. Today's motor is computer driven. Micro-chips, which seem to have been designed in and for Florida, have been strategically placed to ensure smooth operations ... in average weather conditions. The owner's manual spells out the procedure clearly - do NOT press on the gas pedal while attempting a cold start. The last time those instructions were obeyed, the battery died before the motor came to life. The scuttlebutt from the grapevine now advises one to depress the accelerator to the floor and keep it firmly pressed there when attempting a cold start.

Decisions, decisions. The choice is yours, the outcome is generally the same.

At the other end of the winter weather spectrum, the recent mild spell, known sagely as (name of month) thaw, threw a different kind of wrench at area drivers.

Contrary to popular belief, the Bobcaygeon Road north of the intersection with Deep Bay Road, was not a Heritage Week project of the local historical society, even though the roadway last week resembled how our pioneers must have found the wagon trails of the rural Highlands years ago. The road provided an interesting insight into the area's past, and demonstrated that our forefathers were indeed made of stout stuff.

We acknowledge that the unusual weather and

the incomplete reconstruction project can be blamed for the unstable road base, but that wasn't of much solace for the drivers who were forced to crawl along at 5 miles per hour in a fruitless attempt to avoid the most brutal surprises the road had to offer. (Reports that a small foreign sports car disappeared while attempting to turn onto McKay Drive will have to wait until spring when proper dragging operations can be carried out.)

* * *

Finally, it seems to me that Canadians are going soft, that they are losing the edge that sets them apart from the teeming masses with whom we share this orb. Anytime the thermometer dips below minus 20 degrees, or more than ten centimetres of snow falls or a sprinkling of freezing rain dots the landscape, Canadian society is thrown into a complete state of utter panic. Radio and television announcers offer pronouncements on our dire conditions that seem to imply we are just this far away from the end of the world, or worse, as we know it.

This, from a country that made winter famous.

Next to being known as a nation of wood hewers and water carriers, people the world over look to Canada as a land of ice and snow. We used to take pride in our hearty nature, flying in the face of the worst winter could throw at us by jumping through holes in the ice, sitting beside same for hours on end to spear a seal or snag a trout. Where else but Canada would someone invent a machine to carry people farther and faster into the chilly wilderness locked in winter's frozen grip?

Remember how we used to chuckle smugly when some luckless city like Washington, D.C. or London, England received an unseasonably large dump of snow. The commentators would describe the paralysis that followed and we winter-smart Canadians, with our snow tires and galoshes and ear-muffs and toques would revel in the tales of how these unfortunate people just couldn't cope with what for us was merely a minor inconvenience.

Lately it seems all that has changed. Canadians are pressing the winter panic button sooner and with greater frequency. All this, despite indications that in fact our winters are growing milder.

Creating Non-Profit Housing in Your Community: The Whos, Whats, Wheres, Whens and Whys

In 1989, the Governments of Canada and Ontario together will help in the production of 6,700 new non-profit housing units in communities across this province.

Organizations interested in developing much needed non-profit housing in Ontario should prepare to apply today.

Preliminary deadlines are as early as March 31, 1988.

The non-profit housing units will be funded by the Government of Canada through Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation, and the Province of Ontario through the Ministry of Housing.

The program is open to all non-profit housing organizations—municipal, private and co-operative.

Government grants may be available to help local community groups establish non-profit housing corporations.

As well, non-profit corporations may receive financial assistance to secure land sites for their proposed projects.

The program is designed to assist in the development of:

1 Housing for those in need.

Non-profit agencies can use the program to help create affordable housing for those in need.

Included in this category are families, senior citizens, physically-disabled persons, developmentally-handicapped individuals, and persons who have left institutionalized psychiatric care.

Preliminary applications for this category must be submitted by April 29, 1988.

2 Housing for low-income singles.

A portion of the units will be reserved for low-income single persons.

Preliminary applications for organizations wishing to sponsor such projects must be submitted by April 29, 1988.

3 Housing for those needing support services.

A number of units will be designed for people with support service needs.

Included are those with disabilities—physical, developmental or psychiatric; the frail elderly, battered women and other socially disadvantaged persons.

For groups interested in developing this housing, a special orientation will be held in February at each Regional Office of the Ministry of Housing.

Preliminary applications for this category must be submitted by March 31, 1988.

Eligibility depends on the degree and nature of care provided.

Lights will come on in Minden if PRIDE grant can be secured

Improved street lighting could come to Minden's business section if the Business Improvement Area and the municipality can obtain supplementary funding through the provincial PRIDE program.

All the ground work for an expansion to the village's lighting has been completed and an application for PRIDE funding will soon be submitted, the BIA and council agreed at the January 14 council meeting.

With $10,000 set aside by the BIA and another $100,000 from the municipality set aside for this project, it is all set to take off if provincial allocation can be secured, said BIA member Stuart Brandon.

Main Street lit up all the way from the highway to McKay Drive. Brandon told council that the study has been completed, the light stands have been chosen, and the BIA is all set to proceed in March if the PRIDE grant is approved.

Council agreed that an application for funding should be submitted. But if the request is denied, Reeve Sinc Nesbitt suggested that they go ahead with whatever work they can afford with the current budget. Brandon agreed that the project should begin, and more lights could be added as funding comes available.

Since it was established, the Minden BIA has completed a number of major projects in the business section of the requested this meeting. However, despite the lack of "fanfare", Brandon said the BIA is still very busy with its ongoing projects and promotions. He said the BIA is still doing the same programs as three years ago, but "all the things are being done without the fanfare."

Although the facade study has been completed, none of the businesses in the BIA have begun the recommended improvements to the storefronts, council heard. Brandon explained that the study was done in anticipation of grants for this work being made available. However, no such grants are being offered, leaving it up to the business owners to pay the entire cost for any work carried out.

Brandon said all the business owners are aware of the study and are encouraged to follow the study's recommendations when they are doing any work on their storefronts. However, he said the BIA does not want to try and force business owners to adhere to the recommendations for fear of causing a rift in the BIA.

Both Brandon and Brezina are resigning from the BIA board of management. However, they will continue to work with the BIA as active volunteers.

project could cost up to $400,000

Brandon, along with Jack Brezina and Shirley Walker attended the meeting to provide council with an update of the group's activities and plans. Brandon said the street lighting is the final major project the BIA has planned and asked for co-operation in seeing it through to completion.

The project, which is estimated to cost $400,000, would see village. These include the replacement of sidewalks with interlocking bricks, the completion of a facade study and stocking of fish in the Gull River. Once the street lighting project is completed, the BIA has no immediate plans for other large projects.

The low profile the BIA has adopted in the last while was the reason that council had initially

Stop smoking, not advertising

Editor:

As a member of Coalition 51 (united to oppose Bill C-51, the Tobacco Products Control Act), I am concerned by the general misunderstanding of the issues surrounding this Bill and would like to take this opportunity to set a few facts straight.

FACT: I am a Coalition member because I believe this Bill is wrong. All members of the Coalition have volunteered their services to fight this bill, and no member has or could be paid to express his/her views.

FACT: Bill C-51 plainly and simply proposes a ban on advertising and brand sponsorship by tobacco companies.

FACT: The Minister of Health, Mr. Jake Epp stated in the House of Commons on May 26, 1986 that the effect advertising bans had on reducing the number of smokers is "painfully few".

FACT: Many significant studies have shown that Mr. Epp's statement is true. In fact some countries where advertising of tobacco products is not allowed have shown a higher rate of consumption than Canada.

FACT: Even if Bill C-51 is passed, Canadians will continue to see tobacco advertising in European and American publications entering this country. In fact 60 per cent of all print publications in this country come from foreign markets.

FACT: This bill will only thwart our own economy by placing unfair restrictions on Canadian companies.

FACT: Coalition 51 is arguing that this Bill violates the Charter of Rights and freedoms. Three appellate courts (Manitoba, Quebec, Alberta) have recognized that the freedom of speech extends to advertising, and a fourth (Ontario) has confirmed that the guarantee protects all forms of expression. Quebec and Alberta appellate courts have also indicated that total advertising bans never can be justified under the Charter. All Canadians must be free to make rational choices based upon truthful information. This means the right to say "yes" or "no", but the decision must be ours to make as individuals, and not for the government to dictate.

FACT: Members of Coalition 51 would support in principle, any legislation which would reduce tobacco consumption in this country.

If Bill C-51 addressed this issue clearly and effectively, there would be no need for the Coalition.

As it now stands, this Bill sets a dangerous precedent for Canada's democratic freedoms, a precedent which in no sense can be justified.

We welcome your opinion on this issue.

Please write to us c/o P.O. Box 1051, Postal Station "F", Toronto, Ontario M4Y 2T7 or call the Coalition Hotline (416) 964-1928.

Merchants miss opportunity

Editor:

As a business man in Minden, my dearest wish has been, to see our village as busy in the "off season" as it is during the summer months.

Many groups and individuals in our community work toward this goal with special events and promotions. On January 9 & 10, 1988 another milestone was reached, as more people than ever before, in the history of the village, were standing on Minden's Main Street.

Business people will all agree that given this opportunity, it solves the problem of getting "traffic by the door". If an individual business does not capitalize on this high volume of traffic, surely it is not a reflection on the event, but a reflection on the individual who fails to take advantage of a windfall situation.

Let's hope the crowds are even larger in 1989.

Friday street closing unnecessary mistake

Editor:

In response to Al Coneybeare's letter in The Times, January 18th, 1988 re the closing of the Main Street of Minden for three days, I must say that the decision to close the street at 7:00 a.m. on Friday - one full business day before the Sled Dog Derby - was not necessary and a mistake.

Why cut off access to the businesses of the Main Street merchants some thirty hours before race-time?

It seems to me that Friday night or early Saturday morning would have been sufficient time to prepare the street for the starting area of the course - At least it was last year when snow had to be brought in to the Main Street.

I am in full support of the Derby and must sincerely congratulate the Organizers, Sponsors and Volunteers for the excellent event, and hopefully future events will be just as successful.

This is just what the Town needs to make a mark on the map and continue to attract tourists.

I trust that the input of the Main Street Merchants is solicited well in advance for future events with respect to the closing of Main Street.

Club's agreement not binding

representing the Marksmen Club, had approached council a few months ago with a proposal to build a club house and storage facility on the property. At that time, council made no decision on the matter, but insisted that no permanent structures would be permitted. Bullerdick explained that the building would be a quonset-style structure that could be dismantled if the club's activities ceased.

However, the building was to be placed on a cement pad, which councillor Lisa Mercer considers to be permanent. The matter has been discussed at other meetings, and council concluded on Thursday that the building would not be permitted.

The Marksmen Club had reached a 25-year agreement with the previous council just prior to the last municipal election. That agreement indicated that a club house and parking lot would be permitted at the range. However, this council does not feel bound to that agreement.

The property is zoned "Extractive Industrial" (M2). This zoning does not allow for the property to be used as a shooting range. However, council is willing to approve a site specific rezoning that would permit this use.

Reeve Bill Valentine said he does not have any objections to the property being used as a shooting range. He also noted that he has heard no objections from area residents.

Township Clerk Jeanne Simpson was asked to draft a new agreement for the club's consideration. This would limit the club's activities to a two-acre section of the property and be of a much shorter term. Instead of the present 25-year lease, the club will be offered a one-year lease that can be renewed each year.

Halls poised to overtake Times as schedule comes to a close tonight

Halls, Times showdown will settle season-long feud

It has all come down to one final game to determine which team will finish the season at the top of the Minden Men's Recreational Hockey standings.

Both Halls Insurance and The Times won their games last Monday, setting the stage for a showdown tonight as these two teams meet one final time before playoffs begin.

After 13 games, only two points separate the league-leading Times from their nearest rival, Halls. And while The Times enjoy the lead in points, Halls has a better goals for and against average.

The key game last

Monday was between Halls and Hartwick Construction. Prior to the game, both teams were still within range of finishing the season in first, but the Halls win forces Hartwick to settle for third.

The Rockcliffe will finish the season in fourth place after downing Home Hardware. Home and Vasey Real Estate are still fighting to see which team will finish in fifth spot.

Rockcliffe 9, Home 7

Despite holding a 5-4 lead after two periods of play, Home Hardware could not stand up to the pressure in the third and gave up a 9-7 loss to the Rockcliffe in the first game last Monday night.

The Rockcliffe's Bernie Upton scored four times in this come-from-behind win, while Doug Schell notched a hat-trick for Home.

Other Rockcliffe goals were scored by Lawrence Loughheed (2), Al Cunningham (2), and Merv Mintz.

Scott Hamilton scored twice for Home, while Ben Manuge and Carl Northey added one each.

Times 7, Vasey 3

After accepting an upset loss to the Rockcliffe a week earlier, The Times maintained their hold on first place by downing Vasey 7-3 in the second game last Monday.

The Times' Jeff Howe was the only multiple goal scorer in this game, notching two. Other Times goals were scored by Sid MacKeigan, John McAdam, Roger Schandlen, Fraser Rogers and Norm Barry, Ed Gibbons and Dave Crego shared in the goal scoring for Vasey.

Halls 8, Hartwick 2

Despite a tremendous mid-season showing, Hartwick was forced to settle for third place as they accepted defeat from Halls in the final game last Monday. The 8-2 win for Halls improves the team's goals average and gives them one final shot at first place.

Halls was successful in controlling the goal-scoring power of the strong Hartwick club. Dave Hartwick notched the only two goals for his team, beating Halls' goalie Vince Duchene in the first and third periods.

John Barkwell and Barry Boice each scored twice in Halls' winning effort. Singles were notched by Dave Rogers, Greg Anderson, Kim Colliss and Jason Stamp.

Tonight's action sees Halls and The Times settling the first-place feud at 7 p.m. The Rockcliffe meets Vasey at 8:30 p.m. and Hartwick takes on Home at 10 p.m.

Frost opens its ski trails

The Frost Centre, a public education centre operated by the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources, announced the seasonal opening of their cross-country ski trails last week.

The Centre is located 10 km south of Dorset on Highway 35. The entrance to the ski trails system is situated on the west side of the highway, opposite the Frost Centre.

Craig Macdonald, the Recreation Specialist, said "the six cross-country ski trails are marked, groomed and track set regularly. A seventh trail, four km loop, is opened in mid-January." The total 22.1 km system has been developed as an on-site demonstration of trail management undertaken by the ministry in its trails provide for the recreational needs of the people participating in the residential program at the Frost Centre; they also provide access to special demonstration and management areas which are part of the Frost Centre's commitment to foster a public understanding of natural resources, their management and use." Visitors should note there is a fee of $2.00 per person for parking and cross-country ski trail use.

There are several scenic lookouts along the trails. Washrooms are located in the main building at the Frost Centre and privies have been placed near the Sugar Shack and at the two ski shelters. Both shelters are fully enclosed and heated by woodstoves. Firewood is provided at both shelters.

Again this year at several locations, special ski skating lanes will be maintained for those who wish to try this advanced technique. Skating should be done only in the designated areas so that the track setting is not damaged for others. Please remember that the Frost Centre is viewed by many people as Ontario's window on natural resources management. Help keep it natural.

Downys at home around humans

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

If your bird feeding station stocks peanuts or a suet ball, you likely have as a regular visitor, a downy woodpecker, the smallest of North American woodpeckers. The downy and its slightly larger look-alike, the hairy woodpecker, are the only woodpeckers with plain white, unbarred backs. Both the male downy and hairy have small red occipital patches.

Unlike the wilder and more strident hairy, the downy woodpecker is at home around human habitation. This small woodpecker did not retreat before the advance of civilization.

Rather it accepted the orchards, shade trees and shrubbery with which man replaced the woodlands. In Ontario it is widely distributed in the south, but, north of the Great Lakes - St. Lawrence Forest region, the Atlas of Breeding Birds of Ontario found few nesting records.

Fifty years ago the downy in southern Ontario was described as "so abundant that one can scarcely enter a wood without finding it." It is still one of the birds one is most likely to see on almost any outing in a park or woodland. If not you will soon hear its call note, a single abrupt staccatto tchick. Or you may catch a glimpse of it in undulating flight, a glide downward with wings closed and then several wingbeats before the next glide. This flight pattern is characteristic of all woodpeckers.

Once it settles on a tree propped up by its strong pointed tail feathers and clinging with its four toes, each equipped with sharp curved nails, it will work over a tree in a leisurely fashion. Patiently and seriously, like a carpenter working with a chisel, it will use its short strong bill to pry out a particularly succulent tidbit from under the bark. It may also use its long barbed tongue to spear ants or grubs, or as a brush to gather sap at holes made by another woodpecker, the yellow-bellied sapsucker.

A look at the downy's diet will show what a useful little creature this diligent insect eater is. Its menu includes click beetles, wood borers, carpenter ants, weevils, spruce beetles, gypsy and codling moths (adults, caterpillars and pupae) and plant lice.

tells of an observer who watched a downy entertain itself by tapping out a beat on the wooden insulator pins of an unused cross-arm on a telegraph pole. "From each pin he rang out a different tone - loud, clear and high-pitched.

insect infestation. If the attack occurs during mild weather in the late fall or early spring, the woodpecker activity may indicate the presence of cluster flies which crawl under siding or shingles to escape the cold and become active again during warm spells.

Since woodpeckers consume large quantities of harmful insects and provide housing for other birds and small mammals, who use their abandoned holes, they are beneficial birds. The FON has an excellent booklet about woodpeckers, with information about the habits of all species native to Ontario. It may be obtained free by sending a stamped self-addressed envelope to Marion Strebig at the FON, 355 Lesmill Road, Don Mills, M3B 2W8.

Pecking is also a call for mates

As well as using its beak to drill for food or to make a hole for shelter, the downy, like other woodpeckers, drums in the spring apparently as part of a courtship ritual. Any resonant object will do - dead trees, aluminum siding, telephone poles. Arthur Bent in Life Histories of North American Woodpeckers

It was evident this pleased him, for he hopped from one pin to another to repeat the variations."

Every now and then a woodpecker may make a nuisance of itself by attacking wooden siding or the eaves of a house. If the owner can control his irritation, he may find this is a timely warning of

And with solid durable construction, thorough anti-corrosion protection, all backed by a six year/100,000 km warranty, you have countless escapades to look forward to.

Ben Hunt of the Haliburton Rotary Club, man's the registration desk during Saturday's Snowarama for Easter Seals. The annual event raised over $14,500. Riders completed the 100 km course at the Haliburton Forest and Wildlife. Participants received a baseball cap, free gasoline courtesy of Sid Stamp Fuels and area Shell retailers, and the satisfaction of knowing they had helped support a worthwhile community effort. The Minden Rotary Club's Snowarama will be held February 13.

Charity scams tap emotions

The Ontario Provincial Police is concerned that private money-making organizations are attempting to take advantage of the emotions of parents and the charity of businesses throughout the province and across Canada.

Investigations reveal that a growing network of profit-making child protection services and magazines are being presented as community service ventures.

"Child Find" - an organization dedicated to locating missing children - is the only registered non-profit charity organization functioning in this capacity in Canada. "Child Find" is endorsed by the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police. All of its staff and volunteers are subject to police clearances and review by government social service agencies.

The OPP advises parents and business owners to check the credentials of all other canvassers and to contact the police force which supposedly endorses such groups before making a donation.

Parents and businessmen are further advised to beware of child identification clinics that have in the past year solicited funds through promotional campaign blitzes in many communities, including large cities and smaller towns.

The OPP has found that some community child identification clinics have ties with certain publications which sell advertising space to companies and retail businesses for a fee of $25 to $1,500, by appealing to their sense of corporate goodwill.

Certain identification clinics sell costly radio advertisements mentioning a donating business firm at the end of their own promotional commercial broadcasts.

The benefits to the public from some of these profit-oriented ventures is questionable. The magazines contain mostly copyrighted articles taken verbatim from newspapers and magazines throughout Canada and the U.S. Some magazines circulating in Canada feature photographs of missing children, but leave out the child's address because most are pictures of children missing in the United States.

The public should also realize that police statistics show approximately 99 per cent of all missing children are abducted by their own relatives.

Common sense sledding

Snowmobilers must use common sense to avoid accidents. Inexperience, ignorance of the law, unfamiliarity with terrain and obstacles, recklessness and operation impaired by alcohol could turn many weekend snowmobile getaways into tragedy this winter.

Nineteen snowmobile deaths were reported in the province last winter (November 1986 to April 1987). The Ontario Provincial Police investigated 15 of those - almost double the previous year's figure - and found alcohol played a role in more than half of the fatalities.

The OPP fleet of 162 snow machines is used mostly in remote and northern areas of the province, where the snowmobile is the main form of winter transportation. Part of the fleet is used to patrol trails, rural routes and snow-packed highways in the resort areas where most of the more than 237,000 snow vehicles registered in Ontario are driven.

Riders risk death or serious injury in accidents on or off the road because the snowmobile offers little protection in a sudden stop or collision.

Off the road, snowmobiles may strike rocks or tree stumps covered by snow. Dips in terrain and wire fences are deadly obstacles camouflaged by the white background.

Thin ice was a major hazard last winter as warm weather, early in the season, prevented the formation of a solid base on Ontario waterways. Two fatalities were reported among the dozen snowmobilers who plunged into the frigid waters of Georgian Bay and Simcoe County lakes and rivers in separate accidents last January.

Snowmobilers would be wise to check with local authorities or residents about ice and snow conditions or other area hazards. Use common sense. If you don't know, don't go.

Check local weather forecasts, let someone know where you are going, the route and when you expect to return. Use the buddy system - never travel alone. If the machine becomes stuck or breaks down in an isolated spot - don't panic. Stay put and wait for help. Avoid overexertion, which lowers the body's resistance to cold, and avoid getting wet.

Practical survival skills and first aid are taught in courses prepared by the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs, in conjunction with the Ontario Ministry of Transportation.

Deer will be fed if snow gets too deep

In central Ontario, wildlife managers will monitor winter-related stress on deer, as well as available natural browse, before the Ministry of Natural Resources will supplement deer food with grain for winter '88.

"It's common knowledge among biologists that wildlife is healthier if left to its own devices," advises Mike Wilton, Regional Wildlife Biologist in Huntsville. "Overcrowding of deer in yarding areas during severe winter conditions can, however, exhaust available natural food supplies very rapidly and necessitate supplementary feeding with grain and/or top quality second-cut alfalfa hay".

Snow conditions vary considerably throughout the central part of the province. Seasonally heavy snowfall (48 centimetres) in the Bracebridge / Algonquin Park area contrasts with the light snow cover in the Pembroke area (25 centimetres), however, preparation is much the same everywhere.

It's a combined effort of MNR staff, Section 38 Project workers, volunteers from game associations, as well as private citizens. This work force goes into action to assist deer once the snow depths begin inhibiting deer movement.

Deer normally return to the same locations each winter (winter deer yards) where conifer cover, such as stands of hemlock, provide enough cover for deer to lie down without sinking in snow. Natural feed for deer is limited to browse immediately adjacent to hemlock stands unless trails can be established. Trails are packed by snowmobiles, allowing deer travel to new feeding areas within the winter deer yard.

Should a severe winter exhaust the existing natural browse and grain supplies, then MNR will consider the purchase of additional feed.

MNR staff feel they are in a good state of readiness as we enter Winter '88.

Lady known as Lew(is)

submitted by Stan Hill

Senior Sunday Fun Day - January 17

A bunch of the seniors were whooping it up in the Minden Curling Rink Church was over. Communion too. - of Bonspieling they did think Roy and Marjorie joined us. Fred and Mary from Fenelon Falls Cousins, sisters, mothers, fathers - crowded to the walls Everyone changed places, skips became the leads Novices were skips - their faces dripped with beads.

Then battle started and Mary Orpana turned blue For facing her, broom held tight, was the lady known as Lew(is) Laryngitis Larry scored a pair, as did Hurricane Hal Harold helped as did Earl, their opposing pal Until he fell and wrenched his wrist, then Mary her best shots threw Too late, the winner was the lady known as Lew(is).

Errors were made by those new to their role Forgiveness was evident and good for the soul When novice vice Marion swept before the red line Gracious king Russ a point did decline.

Battles waged, laughter rang, the curling was hilarious When May Sinclair's team scored highest points, their expressions were most joyous Then came Ken Walsh's band and Russ King's too Closely tied with - the lady known as Lew(is).

Four teams claimed the major prizes, the bottom two some sweets Two other teams whose names were drawn, also won some treats.

But the finest battle of the day was fought by a replacement skip Aileen Blears was ill, so Ross Codlin guided the ship Like a venging fury they swarmed over the ice Til even Lois agreed "it's no dice".

Score-keeper Aulie two names he drew The one was Codlin, t'other - the lady known as Lew(is) Cliff Green and Robbie backed their skip Following three ends, Ross was leading three to zip Laryngitis Larry floundered, Hal drew a blank Harold threw one that barely bit the tank They hung their heads, the air was blue But purposefully striding to the hack came, - the lady known as Lew(is) A take-out then a draw, suddenly the score was tied Over-time, Ross had the hammer, alas his aim was wide Three fine deliveries under pressure are made by very few On Sunday we showed our respect to the lady, known as Lew(is).

Well we had a banquet supervised by Lorraine and Anne Lloyd handed out the prizes and with quick quips was messin' Such as "with my brains and your tongue we could open a delicatessen".

Gil Scott, on behalf of Laryngitis Larry thanked all the crowd Then as folks were leaving, the music became loud In the middle of the floor, a couple were dancing, to the music of Mitch and his crew Would you believe? It was husband Eric with the lady known as Lew(is).

Nights are long neath the Minden midnight sun, fun days bring us cheer When we're re-covered from the last Spiel - perhaps another will be here.

The Honda FOURTRAX 300 4X4 does it all with full-time four-wheel drive.

An all new four-stroke OHC engine offers 282 hard-working cc's of power. Just press the electric start, kick in the five-speed transmission (it features a super low first gear and a useful reverse gear) and you'll find there isn't much in the rough country that'll stop a FOURTRAX 4X4.

The steeper or muddier or rockier it gets, the more this 4X4 digs in.

Pile on the tools. Or pile on the camping gear. The sturdy front and rear carriers will carry almost 90 kg (200 lb) combined. The reinforced front bumper gives you a lot of push when you need it, and the standard rear trailer hitch gives you a lot of pull - up to 385.5 kg (850 lb).

The FOURTRAX 300 4X4 is tough from the ground up with independent front suspension, fully sealed front and rear drum brakes, tight turning radius, low weight. And a great price.

So drop in and see one soon. Then get ready to move mountains.

Paul Harrison has been returned as president of the Scenic Highway 35 Association. The group held its annual meeting January 19 at the Stanhope Firefighters Hall. Close to 50 businesses were represented at the gathering.

Harrison expressed his appreciation to the members for their confidence for another term. He said the association had come a long way since its formation and the members are starting to see benefits from those early activities.

The president called upon all members to become involved in the activities of the organization. He commented that if every member volunteered to assist on one of the committees, the workload would be reduced and the programs of the association would be that much easier to organize.

Also elected during the annual meeting was vice president Eleanor Patton, secretary Marg Harrison and treasurer Dave Colt.

The members discussed a number of issues of interest to the association, including the third annual Snowmobile Balloon Run scheduled for February 27. The membership also endorsed the spending of $350 to ensure that the associa-

Chilling races

When the road gets slippery, most people avoid heading out in their cars. However, there are some who just can't wait to get onto the icy track set up at the Minden Fair Grounds. The first ice car races of the season were held this past weekend and there were close to 100 cars involved in the two days of racing. Racing will be staged every weekend for the next five or six weeks.

Fine tuning between the races keeps the cars going fast.

Good traction around the curves allows car number 41 to take the inside route and pull ahead.

Packard rink wins first round in curling series play-offs

The Haliburton Senior's curling schedule for the season is at the half-way point and two major events occurred in January 1988, the Series No. 1 play-offs and the annual inter-club Bonspiel with the Minden Club.

Series No. 1 trophy winners were the Ed

Packard rink with Wally Knobloch, Dave Stirrett and Norma Crewson, while the runner-up team was skipped by Roy Nicholls and consisted of Gladys Fugar, Mike Kowal and Ethel MacDonald. The consolation series was topped by Nick Nimigon, Eleanor Holmes, Jim Hobson and Stan Baker.

In the Bonspiel, Minden teams liked the local ice conditions and walked off with the top four prizes. The special "Minden vs. Haliburton" trophy will now bear the names, headed by skip Don Sinclair. Sid Rowe, May Sinclair and Gil Scott. Second was the team of Earl McDonald, Hazel Maxwell, Muriel Reimer and Mel Robertson, in draw No. 1; Merl Codlin's four-some including Roly Scott, Ed Bolger and Tony Dymott topped the No. 2 draw followed closely by Frank Codlin with Lois Adamson, Stan Hill and Molly McCarthy.

Haliburton did manage two High-I winners in Bruce Armstrong's rink of Mimi Carson, Pete Johnson and Ethel MacDonald, and Nick Nimigon's team with Billie Pickard, Jim Hobson and Dorothy Baker.

Next stop, March 31 - and Spring.

tion's brochures will be displayed at four travel shows at which the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce will be representing the area.

A number of changes to the association's constitution were also accepted including the limiting of the number of votes at an association meeting to two per business and a provision to allow employees of a business to be assigned voting rights by the owners, if required.

Following the business portion of the meeting, the members enjoyed a social gathering.

Jeanne Sears, P.R.O.

The January 20th meeting of Minden Women's Institute was at the Common Room at 2 with Mrs. C. Lacey presiding. After the usual opening, 18 members including a new one, Mrs. S. Rowe, turned in special collection for the Card Fund and Pennies for Friendship as well.

Mrs. W. Moore reported sending 18 cards since the last meeting.

The correspondence was read and we are sending for 20 new hand-books for executive members and others may buy theirs.

The P.R.O. is to send information about our 80th anniversary for Home and Country magazine.

Mrs. A. Coulter then gave an amusing reading. It was decided that we plan our bus trip to the Royal Winter Fair next fall.

Mrs. Alec Taylor then read Current Events for 1987 recalling memories. Then there was a Spelling Bee with Mrs. Cox giving the words and we found how we forgot many words and last one up being Jean Lacey.

The meeting then adjourned and a social half hour followed with snacks and tea served by the committee. Next meeting will be February 17th at 2 at the Common Room with programme by Mrs. J. Hulbig and also crafts auction and all ladies welcome.

Exams: Aarrgh!

voices of hhss

by Katy Beach, Dianne Garbutt
and Heather Donaldson

Well, the time is upon us. The time of last minute cramming and a week and a half break from the normal routine of school. Yes, it's exam time. To some the word itself makes one twitch and to others it's simply a time of not seeing your most dreaded teacher for a little while. As three-quarters of the County consist of students, their parents and relatives, friends, school board members and bus drivers they are well aware of the black and dreary event of which is occurring. Since the other quarter of the population is unaware and unaffected by exams, we've decided to dedicate this week's column (since all that is going on at school is review and studying anyway!!) to one of the most natural events in a teenager's life, right up there with homework, peer pressure, cars and zits - the exam.

It is a strange event, as though time itself has stood still and a total eclipse has occurred over HHSS.

When one enters the school before either the morning exam at 9:30 or the afternoon exams at 1:00, a sight so odd presents itself to the visitor that one might be tempted to call Rod Serling from the Twilight Zone to investigate.

The halls are not like a bubbling, lively mass from a scene of 'The Blob', but are actually relatively quiet and remain in a somewhat somber mood. Masses of students, garbed in exam attire (consisting of the most antiquated, mismatched and comfortable clothing dug from out of the depths of the deepest draws annually for this event) are sprawled out upon the floor and are passed along row upon row of reading students. Only talk of worry and weekend plans can be heard on the wind.

Tension, has, in the past, been relieved by the food, gum and walkmans. Paper fights are quite common, and occasionally, students can be seen dunking their best friend into the deepest and wettest snowbank this side of Tory Hill.

This actual writing of the long brain drains is an experience surely remembered by everyone who has attended high school. The forgetting of carefully filed information coded with names for easy remembrance, the leaking of pens, the sudden urges to go to the bathroom, and the nose that just won't stop running. Sure exams are all about marks, for some between passing and failing, and others exemptions and honours. But what exactly do these marks mean? Anyone could do much better if there wasn't such pressure and feelings of panic of which sometimes occur during exams. Why aren't there many extended-length versions of tests held instead of such do-or-die two hour challenges? It seems the eternal question doesn't it? We can always console ourselves by believing that exams are character builders for our future lives, but such thoughts don't really help when sitting in the gym writing the physics exam and having five questions to answer in two minutes, though. Does it?

Snowdon is tops again

library corner

by Joel Levis

Every three months, the Haliburton County Public Library recognizes the Branch that has increased library usage over the same quarter in the previous year with its Quality Achievement Award.

The year 1987 has been a banner year for public libraries and public library services throughout the County and the award for the last quarter of 1987 goes to the Snowdon Branch with a percentage increase of 40.7 per cent which is 15 per cent more than the next best performer, the Dorset Branch.

Increased usage of the public library system is the order of the day which is in keeping with national trends. It has been projected that public library usage will increase 40 per cent between the current year and the turn of the century which would suggest a minimum of 3 per cent increase each year.

In 1987, the increase in library usage in Haliburton County was nearly double this minimum figure and it is expected to continue as services change and become more relevant.

Well Folks: It looks like rain today as I said before, spring is just around the corner. We had enjoyable entertainment Wednesday evening with Kathy Owens and Bob White. We hope they will come again.

Our Thursday afternoon tea was served by the Ladies of U.C.W. Minden United Church. It was really nice, also the singing which followed.

We had a lovely dinner and presentation on Thursday in honour of two people who were leaving Hyland Crest. Madeline Hartin and Karl Samuelson. They will both be missed very much. Madeline is retiring and Karl is going to Sudbury to what he hopes will be an advancement and we sure hope he likes it and makes good. Winnie Barnum presented Karl with a Dresden Plate Quilt made by the residents, and Isabel Keefer presented him with a beautiful painting of a Haliburton scene done by Mr. Joachim Gauthier who is a resident here, on behalf of the staff. Olive Hamilton presented him with an ornamental loon carving on behalf of the management. Madeline was presented with a silver tray with her co-workers names engraved on it. She was very pleased.

Our service in the Chapel Sunday morning was conducted by Rev. J. Burgess with Maron Rose playing the organ, and on Tuesday morning Rev. Moll of the Minden United Church had the service.

I had a visitor from Calgary, Mrs. Carolee Lee and baby. They came to see Angus Coulter

Robert John

- at Extencicare Nursing Home, Haliburton on Friday, January 22nd, 1988 in his 84th year, beloved husband of Z. Bernice Shaw, dear father of Paul of Minden, dear brother of Pearl (Mrs. F. Barry), Shirley (Mrs. Alton Hughes) and predeceased by Charlie and Donald. Rested at the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, Minden. Funeral was held in the chapel on Saturday, January 23rd at 2:00 p.m. Spring interment Gelert Cemetery.

Coulter call on me. They are leaving for Florida until March.

Mrs. Millie Wood had her two daughters as dinner guests on Sunday. Mrs. Ferrill has her son and his family to visit with her on Sunday.

Movies were "Country Coyote Goes", "Klondike Brown Wolf" and "Hollywood".

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Davis and Mr. Houghton and daughter were in Tuesday evening. It was nice to have them again. We enjoyed their music and singing very much. All till next week.

Musical evening a success

by Joan Hoad

It is with much pleasure that I report on a most successful musical evening held on Wednesday, January 13 at the Rails' End Gallery. It was hosted by the Guild Choir and under the capable and amusing 'baton' of Marilyn Stouffer, the many guests were treated to a delightful evening of fellowship and fun. As Wendy Bate-man put it so felicitously, "they were painting pictures with their songs and were weaving friendships with their games".

Guild members are now busy finishing their special pieces to present in their upcoming show, 'Celebration '88'. Entries received March 8 to 12. Look out for your newsletter with an improved list of awards. This is always an interesting time when members show their very best and the progress or new directions they have made during the past year.

What a wealth of activities are offered this winter at Sir Sandford Fleming College. We are indeed a most fortunate community. Do take time to check the courses available, there is bound to be one which appeals to you.

February promises to be a really different month, guaranteed to chase away Winter Blues! This is due in large part to the excellent co-operation and planning which took place between four local organizations to promote Heritage Week and give Haliburton County a real boost. The Museum, Library, Rails' End Gallery and the Heritage Walks are all set to give us some great surprises on February 20. Watch for more news on this super effort. At the sneak preview, it sounds like a lot of fun!

Meantime, at the Rails' End Gallery each week they are offering a chance to see some very interesting films which usually don't come our way. On Wednesday, January 27, we can have a glimpse into the past activities of our grandparents' time. "J.A. Martin, Photographer", is a delightful turn-of-the-century true story of an itinerant photographer in Canada. We also have a great treat in the form of a real Magic Lantern Show, courtesy of president Ginnie Muenzel's grandfather, who has so kindly allowed these precious keep-sakes to travel to Haliburton from Buffalo to weave a Magic spell for us all. Don't miss it!

Permits decline

After a surge of new construction in Lutterworth Township in 1986, the number of permits issued last year declined slightly, year-end statistics from Chief Building Inspector Ernie Roylance show.

In 1987 the number of building permits issued was 83, compared with 88 the previous year. At the same time, the estimated value of new construction in the township climbed from $1,334,000 to $1,503,985.

Although the number of permits issued last year represents a slight decrease, it is still well above the 1985 level when 67 permits were issued for an estimated value of $922,500.

CARD OF THANKS

Minden Lioness Club would like to thank the Victoria Laundry & Dry Cleaners for their donation of $222 for collecting cleaning receipts. It was greatly appreciated and sure helped out our Club.

Minden Lioness Club wish to thank Stedmans for their assistance in gathering cleaning receipts for Victoria Laundry & Dry Cleaners. The campaign was a great success.

Mr. and Mrs. Schuitemaker - winners of the Minden Sled Dog Derby Draw dinner for two at the Schnitzel House, really enjoyed their excellent food and courteous service. Thank you.

CARD OF THANKS

We have had such a tremendous response of friendship, generosity and love since our house fire. The donations of clothes, toys and money have just been wonderful. Since we've had 3 or 4 drop off places, where these items have been left for us, it has been difficult to keep track of exactly who left which bag of clothes or box of toys and books. Therefore, this is a thank you for those of you who may not receive a written note, we truly appreciate your generosity. This has been a tremendous help to us. We would also like to thank the firemen for their efforts to save our house and also for their swift attention to my mother when she needed medical assistance. Thank you also to the ambulance attendants for their help and Dr. Bottum and the nurses of Haliburton Hospital. To our family, friends, neighbours and all who have rallied around us at this time of need and helped to lighten the burden of our loss, we thank you.

Bill, Sue,
Christopher & Heather
